The Family Tree

The Infant and Early Childhood Mental Health Consultants support early care and education professionals and families in promoting children's social emotional development. We explore strategies that help children safely express a range of emotions, to engage in positive interactions with others, and experience success in their unique learning environments.

Children's social and emotional development is crucial for lifelong success.

Program Support

The Infant and Early Childhood Mental Health Consultants develop partnerships with child care programs serving children birth to five-years-old throughout Baltimore City. Support is offered to both family child care programs and center based classrooms to strengthen the child care environment. Consultants promote the integration of intentional social emotional learning through embedded coaching and hands-on materials.

Individual Child Consultation

The Infant and early childhood mental health consultants provide consultation for individual children to increase success in their care setting. Observations and screenings are completed to assist in developing plans and monitoring outcomes. As a team, the providers, families, and consultants work together to develop effective prosocial techniques for both home and child care. Referrals are offered to children who may benefit from further evaluation and services.

Benefits

The Early Intervention Project utilizes an evidence-based approach that has been shown to:

- Enhance relationships and interactions
- Improve quality of classroom climate
- Reduce children's challenging behaviors
- Build social and emotional practices and skills
- Prevent suspensions and expulsions
- Reduce provider and family stress
